Michael Lynn, Hotel Administration “Service Gratuities & Tipping”
February 16th * 2-3pm * Kendal Auditorium
This presentation will briefly summarize 40 years of my research on tipping.
Topics covered will include:
• the relationship between tips and service
• race differences in tipping
• occupational differences in tipping, and policies.
• ways to increase servers' tips
• national differences in tipping
• the effects of tipping (vs alternative)

SPRING 2023 CAPE LECTURE SERIES
As always, come ½ hour prior to lecture for refreshments and great company!
CAPE Lectures – continued
Donald Greenberg, Computer Graphics, AAP * A Pictorial History from Astronauts to Animation
March 16th * 2-3 pm * Kendal Auditorium
A pictorial history of seven decades of computer graphics starting with training the astronauts how to dock the Lunar landing Vehicle to the Apollo Mother Spacecraft in the 1960s. His unplanned and lengthy journey through many disciplines includes architectural design, medical innovations, the Ivory Billed Woodpecker, Hanna-Barbera, and Pixar-Disney animation, and is now culminating with virtual and augmented reality. His most recent applications are dealing with the design of the built environment with respect to energy, global warming, digital twins, and rebuilding the infrastructure of the United States.

Andrew Zepp, Executive Director, Finger Lakes Land Trust - TBA
April 20th * 10:30-11:30 am * Kendal Auditorium

Tom Seeley, Neurobiology and Behavior * The Marvelously Complex Behavior of Honey Bees
May 18th * 10:30-11:30am * Kendal Auditorium
The honey bee is as far above the general run of other insects as a human being is above all his fellow mammals. The complexity of the social life of honey bees, their powers of mutual communication, their skills in employment, and their debates and decisions on collective actions, are so remarkable that they raise the question of the capacity of a worker bee for thinking. In this talk, Tom will share some of the findings that he and his colleagues have made in studying these little creatures over the past 50 years.

Projects and Events - a Sampling!

One of CAPE’s many projects: Global Cornell!
This is the editorial team for the CAPE Project: Exploring the History of Cornell’s Global Cornell. They now have almost 60 vignettes all written by Cornellians and are ready to engage a publisher. Congratulations, team!

Mark those calendars! May 23rd!
In partnership with the Cornell Retiree Association - You’re Invited to attend a tasting event at Frontenac Point Vineyard and Estate Winery @ 9501 Rte 89, Trumansburg. This is a limited capacity event and pre-registration is required. May 23rd from 1pm to 3pm. (I already have a spot, so you better hurry!) 😊
Contact Amy Layton to register (please indicate that you are a CAPE member): ael67@cornell.edu
Parking Concerns and Issues

Thanks to those who have provided feedback and expressing concerns about parking and the related issues. CAPE met recently with the Retirement Engagement Committee and continues to explore this further. We hope to have more information soon.

Changing of the Guard!

After delightfully supporting this program for nearly fifteen years, I am finally joining the ranks of the retired! Thank you for making this job such a wonderful and rewarding one! Your suggestions, guidance, kudos and critiques really were the driving forces with which I was able to help CAPE expand and grow. I was fortunate enough to be able to see many of you at the 40th birthday party, but for those that I may have missed - thank you, too!

Melissa Rooklidge will be the incoming CAPE staff and I think she’ll do a bang-up job. I know you’ll have great ideas and feedback for her! She is excited to be here, and you’ll hear from her soon.
